Legendary Greg Lake performs at the Aladdin while touring the US and Canada

Legendary Greg Lake, songwriter, poet, vocalist and founding member of Emerson Lake and Palmer and King Crimson, performs Thursday at the Aladdin Theatre while on tour of the US and Canada with his new album "Songs of a Lifetime," an intimate, interactive and autobiographical show.

The tour showcases Lake's influence on music and those who influenced his music in an unusual, personal show consisting of songs, stories, and audience participation and here is what he had to say.

Catherine Garvin: What's the feeling or vibe you receive when out and about talking to audiences around the world about "Songs of a Lifetime?"

Greg Lake: The concept of performing an intimate and autobiographical show presents a huge challenge. My experience of this format in 2010 was so invigorating it still gives me a thrill every time I think about it. The audience and I create an intimate and unusual experience together. However, at the end of the night the most important thing of all for me is that the audience always feels they have been entertained and enriched by the whole live experience.

Garvin: What are some of the surprises you have in store for us? Sneak peek?

Lake: More surprises are ahead for fans and each show promises to be both exciting and different. This is not a boring show, with me strumming folk songs.

There is drama and pathos. I hope theatergoers will feel that they have been part of an unusual and enlightening experience, as well as having been entertained.

Lake has long been considered a legendary voice and musical powerhouse whose impact changed the landscape of rock and roll.

The autobiographical concert is a narrative of Lake's experiences from childhood to the present, including never before revealed details, funny and poignant moments, and colorful facts of his extraordinary career as one of the world's leading and influential musicians, songwriters, vocalists and poets.
